According to a new market report, the future of the global automotive mirror market looks good with opportunities in the interior as well as exterior mirror market. The global automotive mirror market is forecast to grow at a CAGR of 4.5% from 2016 to 2021. The major drivers of growth for this market are increase in vehicle production and increasing content of electronic technology in vehicles.

In this market, interior mirror (basic, auto-dimming and multi-functional) and exterior mirror (basic, medium, premium, commercial and auto-dimming mirrors) are the market segment by application type. On the basis of vehicle type, the market is segmented as passenger car and commercial vehicle. On the basis of its comprehensive research, the author forecasts that the interior mirror segment is expected to show above average growth during the forecast period.

Within the global automotive mirror market, the OEM segment is expected to remain as the largest market. Increase in vehicle production and changes in the government policies are the major factors, which would spur growth for this segment over the forecast period.

APAC is expected to remain the largest market due to large vehicle production and rising customer's concern towards their safety and comfortability. Asia Pacific and Rest of the World are expected to witness significant growth over the forecast period because of increasing penetration of auto-dimming mirrors in vehicles in developing countries to follow government regulations on vehicular safety.
